'Adapting to change; Charting the course in the era of transformation'

The 'Architecture and Design Programme' provides an international annual platform for architectural experts, design theorists and engineering practitioners to meet and exchange insights and expertise in the field of architecture, constructing and built environment.

As architects' environmental and social responsibility continues to grow and expand, it is imperative to start thinking outside the box of conventional architecture from the earliest stages of planning through to end user functionality. Hear what the industry leaders have to say about the current challenges in the field of architecture, new standards in international regulations and best practices, along with innovative strategies for applying modern design techniques.

PropTech & Innovation: Digital innovation and disruption in the City

There is an increase in global investment into PropTechs with the impacts of technology disrupting the real estate and city infrastructure planning. The UAE has made the start on providing products and services that are tied to customer innovation and collaboration.

For the real estate sector to keep up with more developed industries such as financial services technology and the sector needs to become part of innovating the sector rather than a disruptor to the sector. Industry incumbents and start-ups need to recognise the gap and begin to create opportunities that will benefit both sides and reduce barriers to adoption of real-world situations.
